LET THE IMPEACHMENT PROCESS RUN ITS COURSE

In the last few days, the impeachment of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court by the House of Representatives has generated various reactions from the people. These have come not only from the ranks of the legal profession, but also from ordinary citizens who must feel deeply about the future of our justice system.

After reflecting thoughtfully on the significance and impact of the impeachment of a member of the highest court of the land, we strongly believe that to let the impeachment process run its course up to a full trial by the Senate is in the best interest of the Judiciary and the country as a whole.

For one, impeachment is the procedure prescribed by the Constitution. There is no other way to remove a Justice of the Supreme Court, except by his own voluntary resignation or incapacity. For another, the process of impeachment is an opportunity — not too often seen in our lifetime — for a Supreme Court Justice to cleanse the Judiciary by his conviction, or to further buttress its foundations by his acquittal, and thereby serve to refute the innuendoes and downright accusations that have been heaped at its members over the years, in board rooms, coffee shops, golf courses, parties and other places.

The impeachment trial by the Senate should reach either conclusion on the basis of the evidence that will be presented there and other considerations unique to impeachment trials. For this reason, we deplore and distance ourselves from press releases, paid advertisements and other public statements that oppose impeachment, as if it were an unheard of procedure. Worse, their attempt to try the case through the media even before the trial by the Senate is premature and uncalled for. Those who have shown an outsized concern for the Judiciary by stopping or stalling the impeachment turn a blind eye to the fact that it is precisely the integrity of the Judiciary that is being protected by the impeachment.

Fr. Joaquin Bernas, the constitutionalist, has said that ultimately the question to be addressed to the conscience of the impeachment judges is what is best for the country. We must believe that our Senators have the wisdom to decide what is best for our country, or we are lost as a nation.

We reiterate that the proceedings in the Senate will not undermine the Judiciary. What will destroy the Judiciary is the attempt to shield its members from accountability, from possibly being found unworthy of their calling, through an impeachment trial that observes all the guarantees of due process and the Rule of Law.

Let the impeachment process run its course.
